

Beard matters

To have a beard has become trendy amongst men. It is true that there are some careless beards, but most of the times men are taking a lot of care to have a clean, perfect appearance, maintaining the same beard style for a long time.

From the stubble beard (also known as “five o’clock shadow”) to the hipster beard, you can find dozens of different styles with a common point: it is necessary to use specific products for its care, preferably different from those used for hair.

Main cares

SHAVING and TRIMMING

To have a cared beard forces to shave (to avoid hairs at neck) and to trim it with small scissors at the mirror every day.

After-shaving products might contain active ingredients to minimize the small wounds produced, mainly in the beard neckline.

→ DRAGON’S BLOOD

→ POLY-HELIXAN PF

MOISTURIZING: BEARD OILS

One of the main cares at beard is to keep it hydrated. For this purpose, producers are offering Beard Oils, following the Oil trend for Hair and Skin Care. Oils with Omega acids are also nice to keep hair’s integrity.

→ TRICHOMEGA

→ HYDRARGAN

→ CHIAPROTECT

BEARD & MOUSTACHE WAX

A popular product for beards and moustache is the wax. It keeps the beard under control while making it look healthy and give it that soft feel. A wax form is related with hair styling gels and wax, so more acceptable by men than any other product

→ DRAGON’S BLOOD LP

→ OMEGA BUTTER

HAIR DENSITY & VOLUME

Large beards need to be dense for a healthy, neat appearance. It is related with the number and thickness of the hairs, but also with its volume. Linking energy claims with hair growth makes a success concept.

→ HAIRDENSYL COMPLEX

→ GLYCOENERGIZER

→ RADIANCYL
